

DITTO Online Safety Magazine

Alan Mackenzie (E-safety adviser) has published his latest version of DITTO, your free online safety magazine for schools and parents.

This month he has written a YouTube special edition; there's much more to YouTube than many people think. A more in-depth knowledge can help staff in schools and can also help parents at home to understand some of the functionality and restrictions that are available. It also includes information from a survey Mr Huck did with some year 4 pupils on how they use YouTube at home.
