Dear Parent/Carers,

Thank you to those parents who attended the NSPCC workshop on E-safety earlier this week, we hope you found it useful. The children took part in the 'drop your books and boogie' activity throughout the day last Friday. We haven't got a final total for sponsorship money raised yet, but the final figure is going to be over a £1000, which is excellent. Thanks you so much for your support on this. We will announce a final figure once all sponsorship forms have been returned. A representative from the NSPCC is coming in next week to hold a 'thank you' assembly.

Following on from the NSPCC's Stay Safe, Speak Out assembly we will be taking part in Safer Internet Day and doing some work with our pupils on this next week.

If you would like to find out more about this, and e-safety in general, there is a lot of information available online through websites such as <https://www.saferinternet.org.uk/>, <https://www.internetmatters.org/> and <https://parentzone.org.uk/home> where a range of topics and advice is shared for parents/carers and children.

I would like to involve parents more over the coming months in looking at E-safety, what concerns you may have and how you would like to receive information. With this in mind, I will be sending out a short questionnaire that I would like you to complete and return. I am also looking at setting up a small e safety group to involve, staff, pupils, parents, governors to look at E-safety issues, what we teach, policy, areas for improvement etc. If anyone has a bit of free time and would like to be involved, please let the office know. (I am looking at meeting once per term for approximately an hour and a half.)

Thanks for your support, as always.

Mr Huck
